

True Willie – America’s Best Willie Nelson Tribute Band!

“Watching and listening to Roger performing the music of Willie Nelson will give you chills!” Roger Hegyi as “True Willie” pays tribute to the life and music of Willie Nelson, one of the world’s most recognizable and distinctive musicians. Not just a Willie Nelson “impersonator,” Roger has found a way to reach into the musical soul of Willie Nelson and share it with audiences wherever he performs.

Roger Hegyi began singing in his church at ten years old before being recognized as “one voice in a million” by professionals in the music industry. Roger has since amassed over 40 years of experience as a singer and guitarist, including several engagements in Southern California at the Anaheim Angels Stadium and the San Diego Padres Stadium, in theater groups and through thousands of performances in small clubs. The True Willie Tribute Band represents Roger’s lifelong dream is to honor the music of Willie Nelson and the influence Willie has had not only on Country and Western music, but also on American music history. And now, True Willie has begun entertaining audiences throughout the country accompanied by

Johnny Higgins – Keyboards

Johnny was a childhood prodigy on the piano, beginning his music career at age five. Mastering the keyboard and accordion early, he has played with a long list of artists and performers including such Country & Western music greats as Roy Clark, Jerry Reed and Ray Price. With deep-rooted influences of jazz, rock, blues and country, Johnny’s interests have spanned the musical spectrum. He has traveled far and wide in his career, playing throughout the West.

David Terry – Drums

A journeyman drummer, David relocated to California in 1988. He believes in versatility, and is known for his ability to play in a wide variety of styles, ranging from reggae and jazz fusion to rock and country. David has shared the stage with a long list of major and regional acts, and continues to be an active and sought-after drummer in the Southern California music scene.

Cliff Saunders – Bass Guitar

Cliff began his musical career at age seven when he started accordion lessons. Later in high school and college, after years of piano lessons, Cliff played every wind and string instrument he could get his hands on, in every performance ensemble available. After a stint in the Air Force Band, Cliff began playing clubs, corporate and private events, and concert openers. He has also sung on stage at The Ryman Auditorium in Nashville.

Mike Fleetwood – Guitar

Mike Fleetwood has played guitar from a very young age. His musical career has crossed paths with many of music’s legends, including years on the road with Jim Pike (The Lettermen), Bruce Belland (The Four Preps), David Somerville (The Diamonds), Jim Yester (The Association) and many others, not to mention a magical improvisational jam with Stevie Wonder. From small bars to the Greek Theater, Mike has performed all over the United States, and in England as well.
